- During the month of November, Sedgwick County Developmental Disability Organization (SCDDO) Quality Assurance Staff completed 1 day and 5 residential program visits.
- On November 18th, Jeannette Livingston, SCDDO Assistant Director gave a presentation to the Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) staff with the local office of the Kansas Vocational Rehabilitation Department. The presentation outlined the role and responsibilities of a Community Developmental Disability Organization (CDDO) and the service system for individuals with intellectual/developmental disabilities (IDD). Pre-ETS staff work in schools to assist students as they transition to employment upon graduation.
- SCDDO Special Projects Coordinator, Ericka Cameron, set up mock interviews for the Project SEARCH students to build their interview skills. Ericka recruited local human resource professionals and supervisors to conduct the interviews. This year the interviews were done virtually. The Project SEARCH teachers expressed their appreciation for the mock interview sessions.
- In November, the SCDDO began work with Wichita State University on a cost study. WSU researchers will review the tasks and responsibilities required of CDDO's and work to determine a base cost for meeting the standards. Additionally, the study will review the value added activities the SCDDO contributes and calculate the cost of those activities. The goal is to have good data to begin contract negotiations with KDADS in the spring.
- Many SCDDO staff attended the InterHab conference the second week of November. The conference was completely virtual this year, which allowed more staff to participate. Sessions included information on assistive technology, trends in employment law, as well as lots of information on how to cope with the current pandemic.
