 1. There have been an influx of fentanyl overdoses between January and May 2022 with most fatalities being teens. Officers have pulled a lot off the street. Sheriff's office partnered with local radio and news stations to run 30-second information spots, adopted a local One Pill Can Kill campaign from DEA and created a Fentanyl website – <https://www.sedgwickcounty.org/drugmisuse>.
 2. The Regional Forensic Science Center (RFSC) services approximately eight Counties but the majority of cases are from Sedgwick County. The process is to do an autopsy and toxicology when fentanyl is suspected. A toxicology report can take 3-6 months to process. In May, RFSC was waiting on results from 100+ death cases.
 3. Officers seized more than 200,000 pills, 21lbs of Fentanyl in May 2022. Since then, Sedgwick County had 2 deaths, City of Wichita had 4 deaths believed to be from fentanyl.
 4. Fentanyl is now mixed into pills making them cheap for kids to buy. The market is transitioning from Meth to Fentanyl and officers are seeing Fentanyl in every type of drug. Unless the pills are from a prescription, it will likely have Fentanyl mixed in. Aderal is huge in schools, as is Xanax and Most kids don't know what they're buying.
 5. All Races, genders, demographics, and ages are using.
 - a. 29.8% of overdose deaths 19-29 year olds
 - b. 26.49% of overdose deaths in 30-39 year olds

6. Fentanyl is used as a sleep aid (0.063mg) and as a pain reliever, though not much these days.
 7. The Sheriff's Office has partnered with community organizations to create a long term awareness campaign. The campaign is targeting parents, individuals who are working with addicts and kids. It's mainly focused on education and prevention for kids.
- ii. Judah Craig asked what is the best way to be involved.
 1. Sheriff Easter shared that companies and other municipalities can put information on the websites to educate and spread awareness.
 - iii. Jim Reid asked if Narcan can be used when first responders arrive on scene.

The proposed use is to create custom zoning for a mixture of commercial and residential uses. The applicant is Johnny W. Stevens (applicant) / MKEC Engineering (Agent).
