Sedgwick County Commissioners Approve Plan for Future of Exploration Place

(Sedgwick County, Kansas) –Sedgwick County Commissioners today voted to support a four-year transition plan for Exploration Place.

The new plan includes redefining the mission, exploring multiple financial strategies, rebuilding and revamping the leadership, building community partnerships, $7 million funding spread over four years and a name change to include “Sedgwick County.”

Sedgwick County will now meet with the Exploration Place Board to negotiate funding and operating agreements and a “change” team will be established to lead the search for a new director and to develop a strategic planning/community engagement process.

“It is our role as Sedgwick County Government to provide services in the area of quality of life for our citizens,” said Sedgwick County Commission Chairman Dave Unruh.
