For Immediate Release, August 11, 2017

Wichita, Kansas - A man who sexually assaulted two women in south Wichita has been sentenced to prison. District Court Judge Terry Pullman sentenced Jimmie Trosclair Jr., 42 of Wichita, to 163 months in prison.

On February 18, 2017, the defendant took two women to his apartment after meeting them at a bar. Both women were intoxicated and became unconscious at his apartment. Trosclair raped one woman and filmed and photographed the attack. The second woman became conscious when the defendant was trying to disrobe her. She was able to flee the defendant's apartment on foot, flag down a car for help and make a police report. When officers went to the defendant's apartment on south Seneca, they located the other victim of the rape along with the camera and video that contained the footage of the sexual assault.

On April 14th, Trosclair pled guilty to two counts of rape, attempted rape and breach of privacy.

When Judge Pullman sentenced Trosclair on July 13th, the Judge ordered lifetime post release and a requirement to register as a sex offender upon his release from prison.
