For Immediate Release, March 14, 2014

WICHITA, KAN. — This afternoon a Wichita man received two life sentences for the murders of two men in January 2013.

Sedgwick County District Judge Ben Burgess followed the District Attorney's recommendation and sentenced Shawn Malik Brown, 21, to both life sentences plus 228 months.

Brown will serve 20 years on each life sentence before he's eligible for parole. After serving the life terms, he must spend 228 additional months in prison for the crimes of aggravated robbery, attempted aggravated robbery and criminal discharge of a weapon.

Brown was found guilty of the shooting deaths of Shawn Rhone January 2 and Adji Tampone January 3, 2013.
