WICHITA, KAN. – A man was sentenced for the attack of a woman in south Wichita. District Court Judge Faith Maughan sentenced Kim Valentine, 46 of Wichita, to 272 months in prison after a jury found Valentine guilty of aggravated criminal sodomy. The jury also found the man guilty of domestic battery. On Thursday, in addition to the prison time, Judge Maughan sentenced Valentine to a year in jail on the battery conviction.

On May 2, 2017, Valentine assaulted his girlfriend in a motel room on south Broadway. The 61 year old woman escaped and flagged down a sheriff's deputy. At the hospital, she told police what had occurred.

Valentine was on probation for a Wichita Municipal Court conviction of domestic battery when he was arrested for the attack in May.
