WICHITA, KAN. – A man who murdered another man over two years ago in southeast Wichita has been sentenced. District Judge Eric Williams sentenced Brandon Evans, 38 of Wichita, to life in prison.

Evans shot and killed Isaac Lewis, 37 of Wichita, on June 10th, 2018 outside Daiquiri's Club at 7007 E. Harry. A 28 year old woman was shot in the arm. Evans was arrested after police saw him running from the club with a pistol in his hand.

On August 12, 2019, a jury found Evans guilty of 1st degree murder, aggravated battery, and criminal possession of a weapon by a convicted felon.

At the sentencing hearing last Friday, Evans claimed he suffered from a mental disease and shot Mr. Lewis after he threatened to kill Evans and his family.

Judge Williams disagreed with the defendant's claim and sentenced him to life with no parole eligibility for 789 months.
