Questions and Answers

Linda Kizzire: Have we used this vendor before?

Jeannette Livingston: We have contracted with Relias for five (5) years.

Tim Myers: Were you satisfied with the services they provided during the previous five (5) years?

Jeannette Livingston: Yes. We looked at prior years as far as cost increases. We used to do an annual cost of living increase. We asked them for this contract to give us a stable rate over time so we can estimate our total commitment. It was within the parameters of the prior year increases. We have been happy working with them.

Russell Leeds: We are finishing up a five (5) year contract and this is a renewal for $62,781.31 every year for another five (5) years, is that correct?

Josh Lauber: Four (4) years, yes sir.

The objective of this RFP is to find a factory certified and credentialed subject matter expert (SME) partner in outdoor warning systems who could provide both equipment sales and maintenance for our mixed-manufacturer outdoor warning system. The goal is to select a vendor who could support total system planning; upgrades with the most cost effective and creative solutions available; acquire contract pricing for preventative maintenance; routine repair; turnkey installation of new sirens; and removal/storage of old sirens.

Questions and Answers

Russell Leeds: Counselor, I supervise and oversee Emergency Management. I have had no specific discussions about the contents of this RFP or this decision but just to get your input?

Kirk Sponsel: Technically you work within the Manager's office is that correct?

Russell Leeds: That is correct.

Kirk Sponsel: You just have some oversight of this department is that correct?

Russell Leeds: Correct.

Kirk Sponsel: Were you involved at all in the decision making process?

Russell Leeds: I was not.

Kirk Sponsel: Okay and does the Manager's office directly benefit from the results of this purchase?

Russell Leeds: Not that I can articulate.

Kirk Sponsel: Not more than potentially other departments might?

Russell Leeds: Correct.

Kirk Sponsel: Okay with that I certainly appreciate your oversight. If you do want to abstain or defer, you certainly can. At this time I do feel comfortable with you participating if you want to.

Russell Leeds: Jon, can you give us a brief overview of the siren system this is going to impact and why this is important, just for the record?

Jon Marr: We were looking for a subject matter expert contractor who could help us with the maintenance of our outdoor warning system. We have 152 sirens located all throughout the county and we have a great need for master strategic planning and total planning for as well as a subject matter expert. We have never had a subject matter vendor. This will be the first time that we have sought one out.

Anna Meyerhoff: What is a subject matter expert vendor?

Jon Marr: There are companies that specialize in outdoor warning systems. They are factory certified and they have skills and software that could help us plan the acoustics of outdoor warning systems and how far sound travels through topography and other noise pollutions.

On the recommendation of Josh Lauber, on behalf of various departments, Anna Meyerhoff moved to accept the overall bids from Central Gas Service, LLC for Tract 1 and Matheson Tri-Gas, Inc. for Tract 3 and establish contracted rates for one (1) year with four (4) one (1) year options to renew. Tim Myers seconded the motion. The motion passed unanimously.

Tract 1 identifies a continued need to contracted Liquid Propane (LP) gas that departments use on a continued basis at locations not utilizing natural gas services or as a backup source of energy. Tract 3 identifies and addresses the need for contracted rates for various sealed/contained gases and/or tanks for departments' gases usage for various needs including but not limited to welding, medical, and scientific testing.

Notes:

Tract 2 was unawarded and all bids rejected due to multiple errors found from all vendor submissions that when reviewed determined a need to rebid separately at a later date.

Multiple departments have varying and similar uses included but not limited to:

- Emergency Communications uses 1,000 gallon propane tanks at listed sites for backup generators in case there is a loss of utility power. These generators run for 15 minutes once a week as a test cycle. Specifically, the Radio Shop uses a CO2 mix tank for a welder in their shop.
- Public Works uses oxygen, acetylene, and argon gases for welding and cutting steel as part of maintaining Sedgwick County road and bridge infrastructure.
- The Regional Forensic Science Center uses Ultra-High Pure Helium, Ultra-High Pure Nitrogen, Ultra-High Pure Argon, and Compressed Air as carrier gases for our laboratory equipment in our Toxicology, Drug Identification, and Fire Debris laboratories to perform analysis on evidentiary items.
- Sedgwick County Fire District 1 (SCFD 1) uses propane to fuel HVAC equipment and water heaters at Station 39. Natural gas is not an option at this facility. SCFD 1 uses sealed gases (oxygen/acetylene) for construction of and repair to training props and other fire service equipment. The alternative to repair is to have this work contracted out to a vendor, at a higher cost to SCFD 1.
- The Sedgwick County Sheriff's Office uses propane as a heating source for their firearms training facility. The facility is located in western Sedgwick County and is used daily by personnel.
- Sedgwick County Parks use propane for heating and hot water for buildings.

Questions and Answers

Linda Kizzire: I noticed Tract 2 was not awarded. Is that going to be rebid at another time?

Josh Lauber: Yes ma'am. There were errors found within the bids of the respondents for Tract 2. Due to the errors found in both bids and to keep it clean, we decided to have a rebidding at a later date.
