Questions and Answers

Greg Gann: Can someone speak as to the timeline of receipt of the vehicles and then the subsequent installation of necessary equipment required for service?

Beau Bergeron: Dodge's timeline in the order bank is supposed to close November. They are supposed to start building December to January. We might have them by May or June. The problem is upfitting because when Ford canceled the order for the Explorers, we already had all the equipment so we can only send some of that back. We are going to wait to order the equipment until we for sure have confirmation the vehicles are showing up. From that point, it will probably be a month or two (2) before we get all the components and another month of setup. So September maybe of next year.

Greg Gann: I know previously we had purchased all wheel drive (AWD) Chargers. I see this is for rear wheel drive (RWD) and the Durangos are all wheel drive.

Beau Bergeron: Yes. The Chargers are no longer offered in a V8 AWD. To get AWD, it has to be 6 cylinder and the Sheriff's Office wants the V8. The Durangos are offered in V6 and V8 but only in AWD.

Greg Gann: It looks like we're getting close to 10 years on a vehicle?

Beau Bergeron: We shouldn't be but yes we are. They are on a six (6) year plan but the fleet is really far behind. The marked units aren't as far behind as the detective cars. For example we are replacing 10 out of the 40 that need replaced. Most of that is a budget thing but we are behind.

Greg Gann: This goes a long ways to refreshing the fleet?

Beau Bergeron: Yes.

Brandi Baily: Haven't we been buying from a company in the Kansas City area?

Beau Bergeron: A lot of the times, the Dodge stuff comes from here locally.

Brandi Baily: Is Davis Moore the only one who responded? I see we have a lot of non-responses.

Beau Bergeron: Yes.
